

The NCWLF is proud to sponsor this dramatic, half-hour documentary on the life and legacy of Sgt. Richard Kirkland, also known as "The Angel of Marye's Heights." It is our intent to host a very special seminar that examines the life and legacy of this remarkable young man, as well as those who led, fought, and died with him. This movie will be the centerpiece of the Kirkland Seminar and is now a permanent exhibit at the National Civil War Life Museum in Fredericksburg, VA.

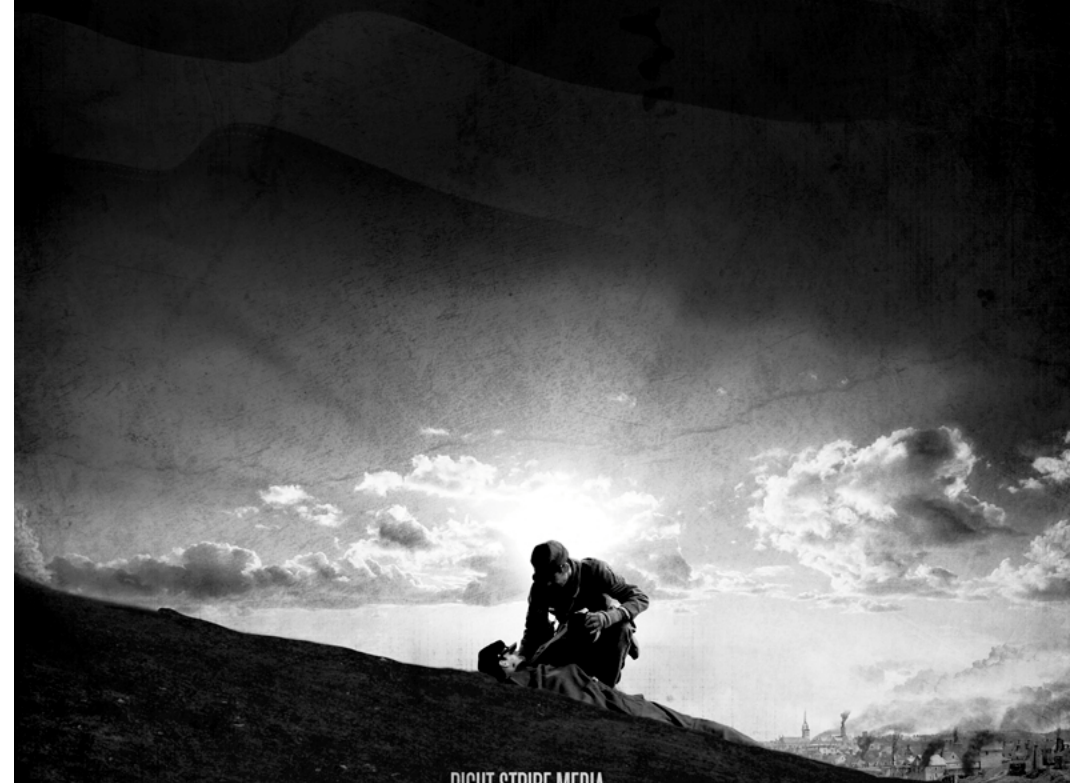

It is our foundation's primary goal to open an expanded museum in downtown Fredericksburg that will enable our curator to display his collection of over 4,000 unique items. Visit our website at www.civilwarlife.org for more information.

Welcome to the premiere of
The Angel of Marye's Heights
Fredericksburg, VA. July 24, 2010

On the morning of December 14th, 1862, Sergeant Richard Rowland Kirkland of the 2nd South Carolina Volunteer Infantry looked out over the field at Fredericksburg and was appalled by what he saw. This dramatic movie tells the unforgettable story of a conflicted and compassionate Confederate soldier who risked his own life to ease the suffering of others. For more, visit the film's official website at www.theangelmovie.com.
